ABOUT

Jane Haggerty has been an educator since 1991 in various capacities within Northeast Ohio. Her scope of experience has included four years as a daycare/daycamp activity coordinator, four years of substitute teaching, two years in the catholic diocese, and twenty-five years in public education for YCSD.

Jane holds a general education license which has allowed her to teach all four of the core subjects, in many different grade levels, primarily in the upper elementary grades. She has had a lot of different experiences through her career, and has met a plethora of highly intelligent and wonderful people.

Jane's experiences has shown her that educators, by nature, are reflective, resilient, and conscientious people who will do whatever it takes to help students succeed and mature.

Jane currently live in Austintown, OH, with her husband of thirty years, Shawn Haggerty, and their three dogs, Bandit, Betty, and Jax. Jane's daughter, Emily, was recently hired into the Youngstown City School District as a fifth grade teacher, and resides in Youngstown.
